Program Notes

This piece was written in 2001 in Medellín - Colombia.
The spanish word "Fritanga" is used to describe the action of frying food in a massive way.

In order to make their lives, people with low incomes are obligated to work on the streets and one of the jobs they do is to fry food at the end of public events like soccer games, concerts, carnivals and popular celebrations in general.

The closest translation of this word in english is "The Barbeque".

This piece is not trying to be descriptive or incidental, it is just an interpretation of smells and landscapes into musical sounds.

Approx. Duration: 4 minutes
